GUNMAN'S NOTE ORDERED Miss Mary Jo Arch to put all the money in her cash drawer in a plain paper bag during Monday afternoon's robbery of the Daly City branch of the Bank of America. Bank Is Held Up, Gunman Gets Over $800 in Daly City

A lone gunman wearing a battered baseball cap held up the Daly City branch of the Bank of America Monday faternoon and escaped with more than $800 in small bills.

Bank officials said the man entered the bank shortly after 1 p.m. and casually walked around the lobby before stepping in a line of waiting customers.

Teller Mary Jo Arch told The Post the gunman first stood in another line and hurried to her window as it became vacant.

"He reached over and handed me a note which told me not to panic . . . that this was a robbery and that he wanted all the fives, tens and twenty dollar bills in my cash drawer," Miss Arch said.

The note indicated the man had a gun and "would not hesitate to use it on me," Miss Arch said.

"When I looked up, he opened his coat and I saw a large gun (later identified as a 45 caliber automatic) stuck into his belt," Miss Arch said.

Miss Arch, of 59 Ridgefield Avenue, Daly City, complied with the contents of the note, but sounded the bank's "silent alarm" as the man hurried from the building onto Mission Street.

Bank manager Louis Pisani said he was "completely unaware" of the robbery until alerted by Miss Arch and operations officer Joel Arellano.

Daly City detectives Ralph Warren and John Van Otten were continuing their investigation in cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation today.

Jeff High Trustees Fail To Recruit Representative Advisory Boundary Body

Board Discusses Other Possibilities for Study

DON McMANNIS, Pacifica City Councilman since 1964, has announced that he will resign at tonight's council meeting. For the story, see page 12.

By WILL THOMAS

Failure of efforts to recruit an adequately represented citizens' advisory committee to study boundaries in relation to present and future school population and ethnic composition has spurred Jefferson Union High School District trustees to think about other expeditious paths, with greater board direction.

First jog on that proposed route occurred Monday night in the districts's Daly City offices when board members instructed Supt. Edward Morgan to summarize the "thoughts" of the five men, for referral back to them on July 25.

The superintendent will attempt to fold into a neat package in boiled-down form, exactly what the trustees expressed individually and collectively in verbal, informal discussion at this week's meeting.

Morgan had explained that attempts to get volunteer committee membership resulted in less than 60 per cent acceptance.

Though the areas immediately and vitally concerned in where and how their children will attend school responded well, others in the JUHSD attendance zone shunned participation.

As a result, district attempts to obtain a wide representation on a 100-member panel failed to materalize as anticipated.

The board had attempted to select residents on the basis of the areas in which they lived to give the committee broad, all-encompassing representation.

It was hoped the committee could launch its work in June, probing such factors as overpopulation of the district's present four schools, similarity in ethnic composition of present or proposed district school attendance areas and the district's future school needs and plans.

The committee, under that concept, would have been authorized, administrators said when the committee selection began, to confer with real estate persons and land developers to gather data, and to call public meetings to test community reaction to its proposals.

It would have been urged to seek information from city and county governmental agencies about plans and future growth patterns and to seek the aid of the County Human Resources Commission, as well as the county schools office.

Now, a committee of a different cope could be empowered to do the same thing—but it may be under the watchful eye of the school board, which received severe criticism over representation of a previous body.

Board members also indicated they would insist upon being

VANDALS SACKED ALTA LOMA school in South San Francisco along with several others over the past weekend. In addition to breaking windowpanes and furniture, vandals cut up new football uniforms, broke open lockers and scrawled obscene words across chalkboards and onto desk tops. Police technician Larry Ross and Ted R. Silvas, juvenile division detective, said they are presently investigating several suspects. Damage is estimated in the thousands of dollars police said.

Pair Is Charged With Ransacking Of D.C. Home

Two men face charges in Daly City of climbing across a rooftop and through a skylight to burglarize the home of a vacationing family.

Police were called about 7 a.m. Thursday by an employee of the Daly City Water Department, who looked up from his work at the city's pump house and spotted a man on the roof of 722 Niantic Avenue.

Officers approached from the front and rear, and arrested 20-year-old Thomas L. Masters as he emerged from the garage of the house next door.

Masters, who lives at 453 San Bruno Avenue in San Bruno, denied having been on the roof, police said.

So did James A. Henry, 21, of 836 Seventh Avenue, San Bruno, and George W. Allen, 28, both of whom were arrested in the basement of Allen's home at 768 Niantic, the house Masters had just left. Henry was later released for lack of evidence.

Officers said they believe Allen and Masters entered the house next door around one a.m., while the occupant, Jerl A. Fisher, was on vacation out of the state. Fisher and his family have since returned.

The entire house had been ransacked, police reported.

Items believed taken from the Fisher home were found on the roof of both houses, where Masters reportedly fell while fleeing from the roof after being spotted.

Allen's mother, who officers said was apparently unaware of what was happening, said she heard a loud crash, the result of the alleged fall. Police believe that Masters picked himself up, brushed himself off, scurried into Allen's basement, then strolled out through the garage.

Among the items found on the roofs were field glasses, coin collections, approximately $260 in savings bonds, watches, jewelry and a bag full of medicine.

Two shotguns and a .30-06 rifle were subsequently discovered on the roof of 764 Niantic, which adjoins the other side of the Allen home. Officers said they are also believed to be part of the Fisher loot.

A thorough check of connecting roofs indicated that no other homes had been entered, investigators said.

Allen and Masters are now awaiting court action on the charges.

'Safari' Is Over, 'Beast' Is Located

"Hold that tiger!"

San Bruno police so instructed their Walnut Creek counterparts yesterday when informed the elusive Arata Pontiac tiger may be in captivity in that distant city.

The tiger — all 6½ feet, 200 pounds, $453 of him — was reported missing last week, sparking the city's first tiger hunt.

Headed by officer Raleigh Smedley, trackers failed to turn up any sign of the missing "beast" and the trail has grown colder daily.

A "tipster" was credited with spotting the life-like plastic tiger in a Walnut Creek shopping center lot.

An amateur tiger-lover from Arata Pontiac has been sent to the East Bay city to identify it.

Suspect in Car Theft Ring Held

The arrest of a 19-year-old student by South San Francisco police this week, has put a crimp into the operations of a nationwide auto theft ring South San Francisco police said today.

Christopher E. Grainger was arrested by detectives Jack Rhodes and Bill Peterson as he tried to sell a stolen car to a Van Ness auto dealer in San Francisco.

Detectives had been following Grainger since last February after receiving a "tip" he was involved in an auto theft ring which specialized in expensive foreign-made cars.

The ring allegedly stole cars from dealers on the Peninsula and registered them in New Jersey, before returning them to the Bay Area for sale.

Described by police as a "beatnik type" who frequented the Haight-Asbury district of San Francisco, Grainger had no known address.

Since early this year Peninsula police had been plagued with a rash of unsolved auto thefts, many from dealers' lots.

Working on a tip, detectives Rhodes and Peterson investigated a Volkswagen bus parked in a private garage in the Sunset district of San Francisco and discovered it had been taken from San Bruno Motors in South San Francisco.

Grainger became a prime suspect early in the investigation and was being watched at the time of his arrest, police said.

"There is little doubt that the ring is still flourishing," detective Rhodes said.

The National Auto Theft Bureau has been working on the case in conjunction with South San Francisco and other local police agencies, according to Rhodes.

Grainger has no prior record, police said.

Police were unable to determine the exact amount of cars stolen by the ring on the Peninsula.

"We suspect the ring has brought in many cars taken in New Jersey, as well as those stolen here," Rhodes said.

New Jersey registration laws are less rigid than California's, according to police.

Collection Of Coins Taken: $1,000 Value

Burglars calmly joined a teen-age party in San Bruno Saturday night and walked off with a rare coin collection valued at $1,000.

Donald H. Partney told police his daughter, Sandra, was giving a small party at 2410 Rollingwood Drive when several youths, unknown to her, burst into the house.

The boys refused to leave until the arrival of police who responded to a "disturbing the peace" call from neighbors.

Miss Partney told police several bottles of liquor also were missing, along with the coin collection.

The youths smashed several feet of bamboo fencing in the rear of the home, lawn chairs and tables.

The damage was not noticed until the youths had left the party, Partney told police.

D.C. Agenda Breezes By

The Daly City Council set some sort of record Monday night by breezing through its meeting agenda in a mere 22 minutes.

It was the shortest meeting anybody could remember, thanks largely to an equally short agenda.

The items, and their dispositions by the council:

—A letter from the Daly City Employes' Union, registering "a very strong complaint," because the city personnel board allegedly did not meet and confer with union representatives prior to making salary recommendations to the council last month.

The board did hold a public hearing on March 23, however, and union business representative Frank Gillis, who wrote the letter, presented his group's views to the board at that time.

The council, having acknowleged Gillis' request for a new meeting before the budget is finalized, ordered his letter filed.

—A resolution granting California Cable Communications Corporation a 15-year franchise to serve the city with cable TV was adopted. The firm already

Judy Ambler Is '66 Miss S.S.F.

Everything's coming up roses for Judy Ambler, a stage-struck seenteen-year-old who sang and acted her way to the title of Miss South San Francisco Saturday night.

Her delivery of that Broadway showtune combined with her portrayal of a slightly snockered actress looking back at the good old days won her the chance to compete in the Dream Girl Pageant at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta.

Needless to say, her appearance in swim suit and evening gown competitions also added points to her score.

The scoring was so close, in fact, that announcement of Judy's victory was delayed about ten minutes, as the judges re-checked their calculations and the capacity crowd waited in growing anticipation.

The little theater of El Camino High School had been decked out in Mardi Gras style for the event, which opened with a Dixieland band playing "Harlequin's Delight."

For the second half of the show, the girls appeared in sequined masks and carrying wands, as fog shrouded the stage to the strains of the "Mystery Waltz."

A final Mardi Gras touch was a cascade of confetti, balloons and streamers from above as the new queen was finally crowned.

The production was ably staged by Dolly Schumacher, Miss South San Francisco of 1962, who now runs a professional dance and charm studio.

In addition to the musical numbers and the talent routines by each of the contestants, the pageant featured performances by Karen Sainsbury, Miss San Mateo County of 1966, and Louise Leighter McCord, Miss South San Francisco of 1964.

Named runner-up to Miss Ambler was Barbara Sams, 18, like Judy an El Camino High School June graduate.

Laura Howard, 16, a student at South San Francisco High, won the talent competition.

Sixteen-year-old Michele Fratus of El Camino was chosen Miss Congeniality.

Master of ceremonies for the show was James Sargen, administrative assistant for the City of South San Francisco.

In addition to her chance to compete in the Dream Girl pageant, the new Miss South San Francisco received a $100 bond, a $250 scholarship from Schumacher's School of the Theater Arts, and a variety of gifts from local merchants.

Each finalist was also awarded a $25 bond.

JUDY AMBLER, 17, a graduate of El Camino High School, was named Miss South San Francisco over the weekend and will represent that North County city in the San Mateo County Dream Girl contest to be held in conjunction with the County Fair next month. (Post Photo)

Motel-Hotel Tax Planned At San Bruno

Travelers staying at motels and hotels in San Bruno may soon be slapped with a four per cent tax, according to the City Council.

The tax is similar to that levied against travelers in most parts of the nation, councilman Neil J. Christal informed the Council.

"It isn't a question of 'if' we are going to have this tax on motels and hotels — rather who is going to get it. The city or the county," Christal said.

A public hearing on the matter was scheduled for sometime next month.

In other action during its regular meeting Monday night, the council okayed a motion granting the Chamber of Commerce $3,000 for publication of a brochure in which to publicize the city.

had been authorized to serve the Westlake Terrace area.

The new resolution provides a timetable for installation of service, requiring service within two years in the areas south of Longview Drive and west of Skyline Boulevard, north of Alemany Boulevard between Junipero Serra and Skyline, and the city limits east of Mission Street. The rest of the city must be connected within five years.

The franchise holder must provide 12 channels; charges are $25 for installation and $5 per month service fee for one set, $12.50 and $1.25 for subsequent sets.

—A letter from the Friends of the Daly City Library informed the council the group has donated 20 books with large print for the hard-of-seeing in the city, drawing praise from Mayor Albert Polonsky.

—Director of Finance Joseph Arch was authorized to issue business licenses to three applicants: Oliver Goldsmith, for a photography business; William Moore and John Lewis for Shanty Town, a restaurant, and Brook Rutland, to sell handmade potholders.

—Councilmen, upholding the Planning Commission, approved a five-by-six-foot sign for a market at 555 Knowles Avenue.

—A personal injury claim by the attorney for Earline M. Brown was referred to the city's insurance carrier, a standard practice.

Trustees At Jeff Delay Salary Slate

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees postponed action on the proposed administrative salary schedule for the 1966-67 school year at its meeting Monday night. The matter was put over until the July 18 meeting.

Edward Mosconi, principal of the Abraham Lincoln school, for the fourth time presented the recommendations of the principals' and consultants' administrative group for a pay increase for consultants.

The board, however, voiced concern "regarding the consultants being placed on the same ratio as the kindergarten-to-6th grade principals." The board had recommended that consultants be placed on a ratio of 1.25 as compared to the K-6 principals of 1.30.

Annual pay differential in this case would be slightly in excess of $500, the board stated. The ratio, it was repeated, is in relation to the top salary on the teachers' schedule.

Trustee O. Wayne Douglas contended he still wanted more time to study the ratio data before deciding his stand.

Mosconi said the administrative group he represented would accept the board's decision, but patiently reminded listeners "that the next meeting will be the fifth consecutive night session and is consuming a lot of time."

Group Praise County Class In Language

Italian-American Citizens of Northern San Mateo County have expressed enthusiasm and appreciation to the Jefferson High School Board and faculty of Westmoor High School for offering Westmoor students an accredited course in the Italian language.

Dan Casentini, past president of many Italy-American groups in the county, and Roy Barghini, of the Sons of Italy in America, said "today's children of Italian-American heritage have lost the important asset of learning to speak or write the Italian language."

Casentini added "it is the hope many students entering Westmoor will explore the opportunity of learning and taking a course in Italian, or any other foreign language," because knowledge of more than one language will certainly be beneficial to their future.

Permits For Ambulances Are Okayed

By DENIS WADE

Daly City's force of available ambulances was increased by two thirds, Monday night, with city council approval of two vehicle permits for King and American Ambulance Company.

Mercy Ambulance Company was already authorized to operate three ambulances within the city.

The council action climaxed several weeks of heated discussions during which, as Mayor Albert Polonsky said, "appeals have been made to emotion, not to reason."

Councilmen indicated that the permits were granted to King and American because it was the first firm, aside from Mercy, to request them. After King and American's application last April, three other firms jumped on the bandwagon.

But Dennis pointed out that Daly City's growing population and new freeway created the potential need for additional emergency vehicles.

Under an ordinance adopted last year to end what city officials termed "great confusion" in answering ambulance calls, a permit is necessary for every vehicle operated in Daly City.

With its two permits, King and American will be able to operate or garage two of its six vehicles in the city at any one time.

The company had indicated it was primarily interested in serving doctors and patients at Mary's Help Hospital who have been customers in the past.

The owner of Mercy had contended that competition might force him to curtail his service, and could result in poor service in the city.

Perry Heads School Board At Jefferson

George G. Perry, 250 Del Prado Drive, Daly City, was elected chairman of the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees Monday night.

A board veteran, Perry is a Pacific Gas and Electric Company executive.

He succeeds Thomas Noonan, who in turn was elected secretary and trustee representative.

Noonan received an appreciative motion by the board "for his term of expert leadership and attentiveness to the people of the community."

Joseph Lewkowitz, renamed vice chairman, was nominated for chairman but he declined because of business demands. He nominated Perry.

O. Wayne Douglas was elected clerk to succeed Peter Galiano.

Douglas commented that Galiano's term was marked by "ingenuity, discretion and always keeping ink in the desk pens."

Trustees OK New Skyline School Plan

Trustees of the South San Francisco Unified School District approved working drawings of the proposed new Skyline Elementary School Monday night, after a presentation by James Storm, representing the designers.

In addition to a sketch of the school, Storm presented samples of floor, wall and ceiling materials and paint samples.

The board also agreed that district administrators should meet with representatives of Standard Builders to discuss the price of a site for the Skyline School and one other school in the new Serramonte subdivision.

(The subdivision, while within the City of Daly City, will be served largely by the South San Francisco district.)

District Engineer Stanley Haney told the board that Daly City ordinances limit the length of time the district could hold a site without actually purchasing it to one year.

more fully informed on any committees' activities—something they believe was not the case in the previous boundary go-round.

Just which way trustees will lean once they've reviewed their "thoughts" and ironed out any disagreements on procedure was not indicated.

A host of public meetings also would be involved, with interested citizens having the opportunity to project their thinking, no matter what procedure the board chooses.

The trustees also seemed to agree that regardless of the committee makeup, the Jefferson High District Board should direct the in-depth study with some line of control coming from the Board of Education.

Morgan volunteered to unofficially "sound out" trustees of elementary districts, through their superintendents, to determine their reaction to a change in plans along the new route, in an effort, as one trustee put it, "to get down to brass tacks" . . . because "time is of the essence."

The Sweatsox edged the Hatmen 14-12 behind the hitting and defensive play of Dan O'Connor and Len Bassin. Bob Easley went 4 for 4 to spark the losers.

The Huck Doon Puds defeated the Red Mountain Boys earlier in the week by the score of 8-5. Gary Giolino led the Puds on the mound and at the plate.

Ask Pacifica Ball Signups

The Park, Beach and Recreation Department at Pacifica is still hoping to offer a summer program of baseball for boys who are not now playing ball because of the completion of the Little League season.

Boys interested in playing are urged to call the Recreation Division office immediately, giving their name and phone number, so that teams may be formed as soon as possible.

Time has been set aside for play by this league on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at 10:30 at White Field. Other provisions for this league will be the same as for the regular summer baseball program already under way by the department.

At the present time there are 53 teams participating in the baseball and softball leagues being conducted by the Park, Beach and Recreation Department. This number, coupled with independently conducted leagues playing in the community, gives an indication of the amount of community usage of the ball fields maintained by the Park Division.

Cage League Opens Play

The Daly City Recreation Department sponsored Summer High School Basketball League opened last week at Westmoor High School Gymnasium as the Gallant Men and the Westmoor Park Playboys both scored decisive victories over two tough opponents.

In the first game, Don Giovanetti scored 16 points in leading the Gallant Men to a 42-36 win over the Priests. The Priests were sparked by Lee Panelli who chalked up 11 points.

The next game saw the Westmoor Park Playboys take an overwhelming 66-35 victory from the Grannys. Leading the Playboy attack were Joe Anibale with 22 points and Gary Soules with 15. Andy Ehat topped the losers with 16 points.

Mary Dillon's dog Taffy, won second place, while Don Montelongo's dog, Monte, took third place. Guppies entered by Tomo Lavino took top honor in the smallest pet area, with Mary Dillon's frog coming in second and Barry Bremer's turtle in third.

In the Best Trck category Aristotle, took first place, Monte placed second, and Taffy, third place. Rich Payne's dog, Buttons, took top honors as the Best Dressed Pet, followed by Bob Trapp's Aristotle and Bonnie Lavino's cat, Precious.

Westlake School

At last week's barbecue the following youngsters were star participants: John Perlite, Mike Grgch, Mark Goodstein, Jeff Jones, Skip Watson, Kim Carrillo, Kent Carrillo, Danny Ravai, John McHugh, Marais Kounalakis, Paul Formosa, Tim Formosa, and Ricky Ewing, who constructed a gigantic sand castle that took six hours to finish. This week's tournaments feature carroms, paddle pool, checkers and ring pool.

Vista Mar School

The summer recreation program at Vista Mar School is getting into full swing now, and its director, Bob Barry, is hoping for more participants to make this summer one of fun for everyone. There are special activities each day for children of all ages, and on Friday, Vista Mar youngsters participate in the weekly special event, this week to Crocker Hills. There are teams to join and many activities to participate in; tell your friends about it and meet new friends at Vista Mar!

Northridge Park

Northridge Park has been deep in activities this week. Thursday was the scene of the first barbecue, an activity which will continue throughout the summer. The carroms champions have been changing hands between the Brocune family, Gerry Parris and Gary Smith. The future will tell! Sand castle building prizes went to Cheryl Phelps, Joanne and Marrianne Vellina.

M. Pauline Brown.

Last week was a big one at M. Pauline Brown, for the girls softball team. They soundly defeated Westmoor Park's Tigresses, 16-2.

Pauline Brown was led offensively by Captain Darlene York's two home runs, and defensively by five double plays. On one double play, however, they were assisted by a Westmoor Park girl who ran to thrid base instead of first base. Lisa Kaplan was the winning pitcher, though she was relieved by her sister, Lori, in the fourth inning. Coach Larry Dito was pleased with his team's performance, but proclaimed philosophically, "One battle doesn't win the war!"

Jefferson Elementary

The ping pong tournament, held at Jefferson Elementary playground on July 1, was well-attended. In ten hotly-contested rounds of table tennis, three youngster won and each claimed the prize: a sizzling hot pizza.

By LE PACINI

BEFORE YOU LET the rabbit ball draw a sympathy tear for the poor modern pitcher, consider the following 1936 major league batting statistics with the ones you might have read today in your regular daily:

The American League had, among those with 400 or more at bats, 27 hitters at .300 or better. Three teams had .300 plus averages, and the worst hitting club hit .269. Only one pitcher, Lefty Grove, had an ERA below 3.00 and the Yankee staff led the AL with a low of 4.17.

There were 23 men at .300 or better in the National League, and five of the eight clubs hit .280 or more. The lowest team average was .265. Only two pitchers had ERA's under 3.00.

There are, of course, many reasons for today's low batting averages, and they've all been discussed at least fairly thoroughly: the hell-for-broke home run swing, the slider, the lights, better gloves (which give the pitcher more defensive support), and, of course, the ever-popular spitter.

There is one factor becoming more and more significant, however, which has to our knowledge not been brought into the argument.

BECAUSE of franchise shifts and the ravages of time, new parks are being built. More important, they're being carefully planned by baseball experts who need not be so concerned with transportation problems as their predecessors, who were often carpenters throwing up an enclosure around a field which was easily accessible to the greater portion of the surrounding population.

As a consequence, we're no longer getting the bandboxes, like Philadelphia's old Baker Bowl, or the oddities, like the Polo Grounds.

Couple that with the coincidential, fresh emphasis on speed, rather than power, and you're coming up with symmetrical parks of sizable proportions such as in Houston and St. Louis and New York.

The slugger hasn't yet learned to adapt to this new type of park (if indeed, he can) which, incidentally, we think is just one more factor in the —if we may coin a phrase—decolorization of baseball.

Within another baseball generation hitters will all be standarized machines, conforming to the same basic patterns of batting. No longer will there be the Otts to take advantage of the short right field porches, no longer will there be Greenberg Gardens, no longer will there be the hushed clubhouse meetings between pitchers and coaching staffs about how to pitch in THIS particular park as opposd to the one they pitched in last week. All parks will be the same and all ground rules will be the same, and nobody will have any advantages, and it just won't be as much fun.

Writers and fans and executives are treating speed as if the Dodgers just invented it, when, in fact, the White Sox, as late as 1959, used speed to help win a pennant.

Ironically, there has been the almost complete snubbing, by some clubs, of power, which is just as important as speed. What everyone seems to be forgetting is that neither JUST speed nor JUST hitting ever won a pennant, that the '59 White Sox and the modern Dodgers did and do have a LITTLE pitching going for them, which is what won the marbles more than anything else, and that balance is still the best way to win anything.

GEORGE ORWELL, the great satirist, wrote a book, years ago, called "1984."

It was a terrifying view of a totalitarian world continually at war, its citizens in abysmal ignorance of who their enemy was or why he was their enemy because of the state's deletion of history and a continual shifting of allies, the end result being a confused society completely subservient to "Big Brother."

The book caused quite a stir, and became a basic text for freshman English college courses. After a while the thinkers began to realize that "1984" wasn't a book about the future, but about the present.

Now, can you draw a contemporary parallel in sports? Try major league baseball. In little more than a decade there have been seven franchise shifts, and since inter-league trading, especially, ex-teammates are becoming more and more prevalent.

Ray Sadecki almost always gets hot the second half but must pitch in rotation to finally reach that point. Can the Giants afford to wait?

One of these years, somebody's going to order his umpire to start calling those phantom bag taggings at second base the way they really see 'em and not the way they ought to, a la the big balk purge a few years ago. And then there will be many long games because of arguments.

Hal Lanier, physically and as a hitter and fielder, reminds of the Seals' great all-field, no-hit shortstop, of 20 years ago, Roy Nicely.

Why does poor-hitting Sandy Koufax, who gets so much accomplished left-handed, insist on batting right-handed?

RELATIVITY DEPARTMENT: Sometimes it isn't that a team has a good bench. It's just that the whole team is so lousy that the substitutes, who aren't publicly exposed as often, look good in comparison. In other words, it doesn't make any difference who takes the field, the team loses just the same way.

It's getting to the point where ex-Giant and Yankee teammates can hardly tell a foe without a program. Add the recent stiffening of the fraternization rule, whereby brothers such as the Alous must acknowledge each other only as enemies, and baseball is beginning to look like 1984 in 1966.

STATISTICAL "ODDITIES"

The Giants, not the Dodgers (at this writing) have more team shutouts than any club in baseball . . . and Baltimore pitchers, not the Dodger chuckers, have struck out more batters than any pitching staff in the game.

RANDOM THOUGHTS:

Why must a starting pitcher go at least five full innings to be eligible for a win, when a reliever can come in during the third inning, get one batter out, and have a chance to walk away with the eventual victory?

Juan Marichal is a "streak" pitcher. And there are also, if you take careful note, such things as streak fielders.

Weekly High Total of 264 Wins Scratch League Title

Ruth Maniscalco easily took high game honors for the week as she rolled a tremendous 264 game in the Mixed Up 850 Scratch League.

High rollers in the men's department were Claude Moore with 617 on games of 193-227-197, Ham Hamilton with 607 on games of 191-215 and 201 and Paul Franke with games of 185-220-195 for an even 600 series.

Jim Jolly hit the pocket consistently as he topped the Wednesday Handicap Trio League with a 625 sries on games of 213-219 and 193.

Laura Byrne's 184—472 and Chuck Kelly's 187—542 were high for the week in the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives League.

Secretary Hank Amstutz showed progress in each game as he led the Westlake Knolls League. Starting with 180, he shot a 200 second game and a big 232 third game for a 618 series.

Gene Tarczy is making a habit of leading his league. Last Tuesday in the Blue Chip Mixed League he topped the men with a 220 game and 593 series as Mary Freyslaben was the leading lady with 169 and 462.

Over 40 ladies were on hand for the Thursday afternoon Blue Chip Bonanza with Minerva Hamm taking home 3,170 stamps to be the big winner. Others topping the one thousand mark were Marie Ratto, 2,150, Donna Siacotos, 1,430 and Lenore De Mattei, 1310.

West Portal Merchants League bowlers of the week were Sorelle Rovetti and Butch Carr with 156—433 and 177—504 respectively.

Oakland Outdoor Visit Highlight of 'Fun' Week

A trip to Fairyland in Oakland highlighted last week's summer recreation activities. Local youngsters enjoyed the story book sights at Fairyland and also visited the Natural Science Museum and took a boat ride on Lake Merritt.

This week's special event features a day of hiking and nature study in the local Crocker Hills. Slated for next week is a trip to Marin County's Mount Tamalpais.

Franklin D. Roosevelt

Franklin D. Roosevelt's Tournament Day drew over 80 contestants and the final winners were Robbie Ward in Carroms, Frank Marques in Paddle Pool, Savie Morales in Chess, Dave Adams in Checkers and Don Thuener in Ping Pong and Basketball Hunch. Steve Giannini and Chuck Davis were close runners-up in the different events. In the girls events Dina Morales, Pam Adams, Debbie Russitano and Pearl Henshall won various contests. Bicycle Day will take place tomorrow All bicycle riders are invited to attend this Special Bike Day.

Marchbanks Park

Marchbanks Playground has entered two high school baseball teams in the Daly City Recreation League. The league begins this week. Already there appears to be stiff competition between the two playground teams, as they work out together at the playground. The Carrom Tournament held at the playground was a huge success. Twenty children participated with Rodney Pacheco taking the boys' title and Linda Skaar winning the girls' division. There was also a senior division which was won by Joe Skaar. Directors Al Banfield and Bob Celeste have announced the beginning of a two-man Hunch Basketgall League to be held every Friday at 11 a.m. Signups are now being taken.

Westlake Park

Westlake Park held a barbecue last Wednesday afternoon. The children brought their own hot dogs and hamburgers and built a fire behind the tennis courts. Recreation director Mike Elson termed the barbecue a success and plans another one in the near future. Ted Reiterman aided greatly in the organization of the cook out.

Leland Cole defeated last year's chess champion, Marty Marcus in a non-title match. An upcoming Tournament will decide who is to be crowned the next chess champion of Westlake Park. Along with chess, a checkers and ping pong tournament will be held to crown the new champs.

Panorama School

In the past week Panorama Park held the First Invitational Bike Obstacle Race. Through his brilliant riding and daring agility, George Marscal stole the coveted crown. Among the other contestants were Tom Ledda, Mike Egipciaco, Rich Bodegraven, Greg Ow and Tony Bames. Recreation Leader Taylor Delbex and his "sidekick" Aide Gary Burns are planning with other leaders of other parks to start having softball games between their associated parks.

Frankfort Park

Neil Blackfiedl and Harold Shurgin report that the Wednesday afternoon Nature Study continues to be popular at Frankfort Park. Many children have been parcipating, such as Cisto Flores, John Dresch, Damon Hudson, Steven Smith and Michael Hughes.

Besides enjoying the hike in the Crocker Hills, several children have found various harmless snakes and lizards to add to their animal collections.

Midway School

Last week at Midway School all the children were getting ready for the tournaments which were held last Friday. The Paddle Pool Tournament, for 7-10 year olds, saw Rickie Turnbull and Patty Devault as favorites, with strong competition coming from Penny Turnbull, Mike Devault, Debra LaSalle and Patrick Miller.

The Ping Pong Tournament, for 10-14 year olds and 14-17 year olds, saw Danny Hughes and Eddy Fontes as favorites, but receiving strong competition from Orlando Miranda and Ike Allmond in the younger division: in the 14-17 age group strength was seen in Kenny Reitz, with strong competition coming from Mike Trujillo. Coming events for Midway are Relay Races, to be held this Friday. There is also a Carrom Tournament planned, as well as a doll show.

Crocker School

At Crocker School tournament action is still under way. Peter Jurand continues to dominate the Carroms scene, as does George Jurand in Ping Pong. Steve Biddle and Frank Baston are the best checker players so far.

In the upper division Strikeout Tournament Ralph Gage is the favorite, but George Jurand or Don Redmond could upset Gage. Shirley Talaver and Jenny Sims so far are the best tetherball players. Debbie Sims is a constant winner in Sorry, as are Jerry McNeil and Dan McKenzie. The "Soul Brothers," Crocker School's 11-15 year old boys softball team, held its first practice. Leader Ed Larious and Aide Steve Green are very pleased with the team's progress and consider the "Soul Brothers" the team to beat. Players are George, Benny, Barney and Peter Jurand, Don Redmond, Ralph Gale, Bob and Dennis Sims, Greg Shelton, Harris Fulbright, and Sal Espinoza.

Palisades Park

Palisades Director Bob Rankim reports that a traveling softball team has been formed for boys from 10-15. Practice is held every day, along with games of football and soccer. Steve Papageorge was elected captain of the team. Croquet continues to be the most popular game at the park. Jim O'Meara has taken over the lead in wins at the carrom board.

Lincoln Park

Lincoln Park's first carrom tournament of the summer went as predicted, with first place in the 8-10 division going to Richard Fern. Receiving second place honors in this divison was David Hutchinson, 9, a temporary Daly City resident. In the 11-14 division Darrall Kelly walked away with the first place award, boasting a perfect record, four wins and no defeats. Giving Kelly a run for his money was Andy (Cooper) Driscoll, 13, who took second honors in the event.

Carlos Sandino, 14, took third place, with Rich Martinez, 14, placing fourth. Martinez, who had a rough day with the old rings, is expected to better himself for the next contest. The ping pong championship, not yet under way, promises some exciting moments. With Pat Scott out of town on vacation, Rod Neswick is expected to nab first place. Pat appeared to be the most likely prospect for first place during last week's preliminaries.

Vista Grande

Now in its fourth week, the summer recreation program at Vista Grande School is adding a little spice to the games scheduled with charades. Two teams were chosen: Judi Palisi (captain), Linda Perez, Lis Brenner, Julie Perez, Mary Tiraschi and Marianne Hackett on the first team faced Marco Brenner (captain), Pat Scally, Hugh Loveless, Lorrie and Vickie Marcelli and Twila Foster on the second team. Judi's team emerged as victors, 7-4. In the later afternoon last week, a carrom tournament began with Joey Gretch in the lead. Race winners include Marco Brenner, Liz Brenner and Hugh Loveless. Marco seems to hold the record at Vista Grande as the fastest runner.

Fassler Road Beauty Plan Study Agreed

Federal Highway Administrator Rex M. Whitton has agreed in Washington to take under submission for study a proposal by San Mateo County Supervisor Jean Fassler of Pacifica that all federally funded freeways be reviewed in the light of new national policy on scenic beauty.

The action came at the first meeting of President Johnson's Council and Citizens Committee on Recreation and Natural Beauty meeting in joint session in the nation's capital.

Mrs. Fassler will again meet with the committee August 12.

Mrs. Fassler's proposal calls for immediate action requiring State Highway Departments using federal funds for interstate freeway construction to review adopted routes to make sure they are not damaging the natural environment.

Almost 'Uneventful' Day For Detective at S.S.F.

By FRANK LAPIERRE

It was almost an uneventful day for South San Francisco detective Lieutenant James Keane.

Returning to the station shortly after lunch, Keane noticed a motorcycle blocking a pedestrian street crossing.

Pulling alongside the motorcycle, Keane identified himself and warned the 'cycle driver to exercise more caution when approaching a street crossing. This would enable the vehicle operator to come to a proper stop, Keane explained.

Instead of thanking the officer for his friendly advise, the motorcyclist roared away with tires spinning—and a youthful girl companion screaming with delight.

Cars and people scrambled clear as the motorcycle roared by with a siren-wailing police car in hot pursuit.

The cyclist led Keane on a frantic chase through red lights, stop signs, over sidewalks, through a school yard and back down one of the city's main thoroughfares before being stopped.

Keane, appearing unruffled at the conclusion of the 10-minute chase, arrested Jerry A. Kelly, 20, of 1231 El Camino Real, Burlingame, and cited him for "reckless driving."

Sharp-Eyed D.C. Officer Arrests Two

A sharp-eyed Daly City police officer arrested two youths late Friday night, after he noticed the wing window of the car they were driving had been smashed out.

Officer Robert Sola observed the car until the driver made a minor traffic infraction; then he stoped it.

Inside were Michael J. Chatman of San Francisco and a 17-year-old companion from East Palo Alto.

Sola checked, and found that the automobile belonged to Claud Coker of Hayward. It had been reported stolen earlier from the 100 block of Oriente Street, just a few blocks from the spot where Sola stopped the youths.

Both boys were booked for auto theft.

Freedom Of Information

MANY Americans of varied political persuasion (the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the American Bar Association and Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism society) are amomg those who think it's about time more people knew what is going on behind more governmental doors. And they believe a Freedom of Information law will help make that possible.

The bill clarifies and protects the right of the public to essential information. Subject to certain exceptions and the right to court review, it requires every executive agency to give public notice or to make available to the public its methods of operation, public procedures, rules, policies and precedents.

It also is designed to cut down on censorship within government that now keeps information confidential under such classification as "Eyes Only," "Confidential Treatment" and "Limitation on Availability of Equipment for Public Reference."

And lest one be concerned that this bill will force the government to divulge information that could hurt it or some individual, consider some of these exceptions from its coverage that are incorporated in the legislation:

Information required by executive order to be kept secret in the interest of the national defense or foreign policy.

Trade secrets and commercial and financial data obtained from the public in confidence or under privilege.

Personnel or medical files, the disclosure of which constituted a "clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy."

Investigatory files, except to the extent available by law to a private party.

Information relating to regulation of financial institutions.

Summer's Ice Days

Barbara Bladen

It's summer in San Francisco. That means fog, wind and ice. The latter in the form of a Follies spectacle so brilliant and entertaining, that it dispels the weather outside the Winterland arena.

What can one say against such a wholesome show? Nothing. Year after year the dancers excell, the costumes, when done by Mary Wills, are as gorgeous as anything on the Broadway stage and this year's show is even better paced, better staged and more beautiful than ever.

The Ice Follies have long been noted for their pretty girls, this show introduces a new feature: youth. They are the two youngest members of the Williams family, a former roller skating team. Debby is 11 years old and Robbie is 8 years old. The four work together in a Western fandango and in solo. They're a refreshing addition.

The show's Oscar winning designer, Mary Wills, seems unsurpassed in imagination as she creates a wardrobe that is unforgettable. It shows quality down to the last detail.

Adding to the youthfulness of ths show are the Sunchro Blades, Bill Thomas and Hugh Smith, who skate like twins, even look like twins, but are just both champion dance-skaters.

THERE ARE TWO IMPORTANT factors to the annual show, the production numbers and the featured solos. One enhances the other in the varied pace and spectacle of the show.

What would the Ice Follies be without Mr. Frick, Donald Jackson and Richard Dwyer. One looks forward to the grace and beauty of Ina Bauer. Well, they're all there. At their best.

Some of the acts are a little tired. But one mustn't forget the large numbers of out-of-town tourists who attend the Bay Area's favorite attraction. When the Beatty's began their straight-faced mayhem in which they pose as a loving couple and then fall, throw, catapult each other around like rag dolls, we turned to observe the reaction of the audience. They fall for it every time, as they do the man with the raincoat and box of popcorn who gets trampled when a skater shoots off the ice and into the aisle throwing the audience into a laughing panic.

We found more humor in this year too. Mainly in the antics of Dick Cooper and Rik McKinnon as Senor Hee Haw the Burro. He rolls his eyes, sets off flash bulbs from beneath his flapping eyelids, twists his body into impossible shapes and cavorts, with the patrons in the front row. It's technically effective.

Novelties in staging the big production numbers feature a Christmas in Japan with the chorus singing "A Japanese cat in a bonsai" to the tune of "a partridge in the pear tree."

The Denton Twins starred in the Oriental routines. The costumes are especially outstanding including the clear plastic antlers on the reindeer that are hung with miniature lanterns.

THE MUSICAL tempo often has too much of a sameness an attractive team who became man and wife only two weeks ago.

Donald Jackson rated almost constant applause for the polish and perfection of his James Bond character jazz-ballet on skates. The world loves a champion and this boy's skill as a superb athlete is one of the assets of the show.

The fashion parade is a highlight not to be missed. Gowns are so stunning, the audience gasps audibly with admiration. If we've failed to mention anyone it's not an intentional slight. There's so much to see, all of it in excellent taste and done with consummate skill that to call it a great show is by way of recommending it highly.

BART: Traffic Cure—or a Costly 'White Elephant?'

Construction Started On BART Rails

By FRANK LaPIERRE
Staff Writer

Supporters of the Bay Area Rapid Transit authority (BART) swear the futuristic system is a panacea for transportation problems affecting the Bay Area now and for many years to come.

There are others, however, who claim BART is nothing more than a billion dollar white elephant that could trample an already bond burdened district into the ground if the project fails.

In 1961 San Mateo county decided to withdraw from the proposed regional transit district because we felt the benefits would not be commensurate with the high costs," John C. Lilly, general manager of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority (WBRTA) told The Times last week.

The West Bay authority was established shortly after the breakaway to study both ways and means to provide a satisfactory rapid transit system for the Peninsula "corridor." WBRTA has until 1967 to present a master plan on a proposed transit system which, in turn, will go before county voters sometime in 1968.

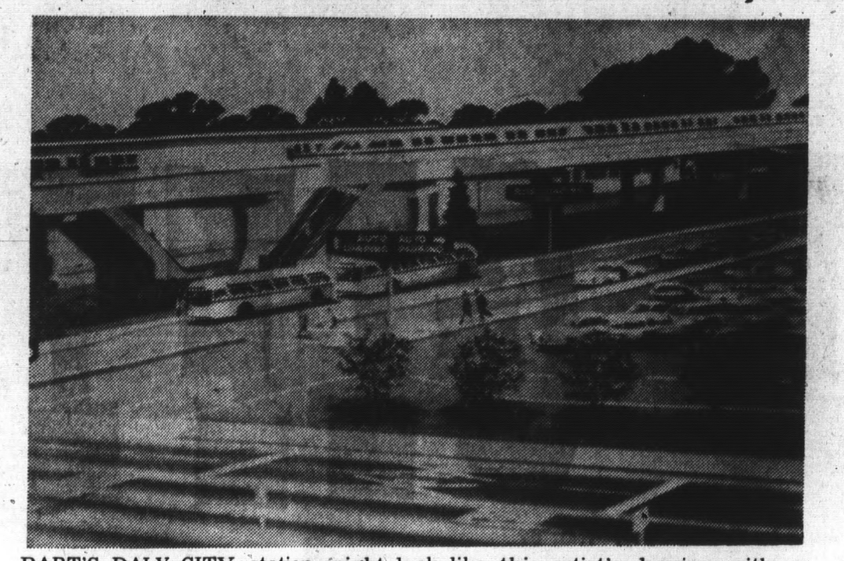
WHILE WBRTA, headquartered in Redwood City, studies various concepts concerning the matter, BART has more than one-third of its 75 mile of tracks under construction.

The BART system will consist of four main transit lines branching away from the underbay tube, terminating in Daly City.

To date, plans have not been finalized on either the design or track layout of the 13-acre Daly City station. The only positive comment BART officials offer concerning this terminal is its importance to the over-all network.

Present planning of the Daly City facility calls for providing more than 850 parking slots, plus easy access to existing and planned freeways and thoroughfares in the general area, according to BART.

Originally, BART had planned to construct a multi-storied station with a storage yard for commuter trains. Primarily because of high costs this plan was abandoned and a single-story station with adjacent auto parking area is being considered. The latest plan would locate the train parking track outside of Daly City alongside the present right-of-way.



BART'S DALY CITY station might look like this artist's drawing, with vehicle entrances and exits designed to provide easy access to adjacent freeways, parking areas and the station itself. To date, no definite designs for either the Daly City station or rapid transit track layout has been agreed upon by BART and city officials. However, excessive costs have resulted in scrapping the idea of constructing a two-level station and train assembly track area.

BART officials were frank to admit that future moves by the West Bay Authority will affect the final design of the Daly City station. On the other hand, the design of the Daly City station will undoubtedly affect the West Bay trainsit plans, Lilly said.

The reason is simple: State legislators stipulated at the time BART was born that any additional rapid transit systems on the Peninsula would have to be compatible with the existing network—BART.

"DALY CITY will be our most important station simply because it is a teminus of the system," Stanton W. Thies, deputy director of information for BART said last week. "And for this reason we must plan carefully."

Special Report

Henry D. Quinby, consulting engineer for BART, pointed out that the "gateway location" of the Daly City station in relation to downtown San Francisco was another justification of its importance to the system as a whole.

"We expect to draw commuters from as far south as Montara . . . people who will drive to Daly City, park their cars and complete their trip via our system," Quinby said, adding "We expect to handle more than 15,000 persons daily in this station by 1975."

Cost of a ride between Daly City and downtown San Francisco will be 25 cents—a fare set by the State. BART has also outlawed "in-car" advertising and smoking.

Several factors were considered by San Mateo County supervisors before withdrawing from BART in favor of further studies, Lilly said.

The fact that BART did not plan to route its trains past the International Airport or through the industrial areas of South San Francisco were paramount in arriving at the decision to withdraw, according to Lilly.

Many officials feel the services offered by Southern Pacific are satisfactory.

With certain modifications, some members of WBRTA think S.P. can benefit the Peninsula better than BART—at far lower cost to the taxpayer. These same people, however, do not rule out the possibility of extending BART down the Peninsula as originally planned.

PRESSURE from the counties to the south—especially Santa Clara with its booming city of San Jose—may dictate the participation of San Mateo in BART.

Quimby claims BART can provide San Jose and other interested southern counties with rapid transit wervice by extending the line past the planned station at Fremont—thus bypassing San Mateo county. Travel time from San Jose to downtown San Francisco, up the east bay shoreline route and through the underbay tube, would be less than one hour, Quinby said.

BART's high-speed trains will be completely automated and although an attendant sits in the train's cab he will have little to do. His duties are to override the system in case of an emergency.

Trains are scheduled to zip along the joint-free (to eliminate the clickety-clack noise) at speeds averaging 55 miles per hour at maximum intervals of two minutes during peak periods.

The noise generated by BART's trains has plagued project engineers from the start.

"The Operations Research Institute in Washington (D.C.) has made exhaustive noise studies on our test track," Quinby said. "Reports indicate BART trains are among the quietest in the world—including those in Berlin, Hamburg, Paris and Toronto."

He said three channels of study were underway concerning noise on the BART trains: 1) Source of the noise; 2) Material used to transmit the noise, and 3) dampening of the noise through use of baffles.

"I can tell you that BART will be quieter than any freeway," Quinby said.

Quinby also predicted the planned freeway system for the "highly corridorized Peninsula area will be jammed with cars in less than 13 years."

"And then where do you go? There are only certain locations suitable for freeway construction. The Junipero Serra freeway will not facilitate the volume of cars resulting from new construction in the corridor," Quinby said.

Plans Incomplete, But Officials 'Positive' Daly City Terminal 'Important'

SAN MATEO COUNTY is well aware of its transit problem and is not altogether idle. Studies on several completely new concepts of rapid transportation, including the use of hovercraft, helicopters and hydrofoil boats, are now being conducted.

A two-passenger, completely automated system is also being considered, along with a jet-powered "supertrain."

Most of the new system being studied by WBRTA would utilize existing S.P. right-of-way. Officials feel this would substantially cut costs of a rapid transit network on the Peninsula.

Southern Pacific Railroad officials "while participating in discussions with an open mind," according to WBRTA consulting engineer James Schmidt, have not volunteered any information on future plans of the line.

There is little doubt the ever-increasing volume of traffic on the county's highways is "painting us into a corner and something must be done soon," Lilly pointed out.

In less than two years county voters will indicate whether rapid transit is the answer to the problem. In 1968 they will be asked to vote on a bond issue.

At almost the same time, BART will throw the switch starting the system's first passenger service.

World Reminded Of Heroic GI's

Samuel Chandler

"TODAY, when it has become a fashion among some to preach hatred of Americans, to burn the American flag, to stone American libraries and break windows in the American embassies" comes a book to remind the world of the heroic and generous American soldiers who fought their way into Europe as liberators not conquerors.

Its author, Nerin Gun, was a journalist who was imprisoned in the concentration camp at Dachau, Germany. With a camera that he stole from an SS guard he took pictures of railroad cars loaded with dead corpses, of prisioners — Russians, Germans, Jews, Polish — watching with cheers on their lips as the American soldiers passed among them with candy and cigarettes.

One of the most tender threads in the book tells how many G.I.'s found one or two inmates for special friends. For Mr. Gun it was a tall, thin man from West Haven, Conn., who came to Mr. Gun and mumbled a few words in German. He made some outsized gestures of kindness which the prisoner mistook for a bid to buy the stolen camera.

ALL the American wanted, however, was pictures of the mountains of corpses. Later he took Mr. Gun to the hospital and introduced him to nurses and doctors who cured him of the physical effects of the concentration camp.

Not all prisoners were lucky enough to have a private liberator. So, we read in "The Day of the American," of the long hours the prisoners waited until their liberators actually opened the doors. The prisoners mumbled their disappointment as soldiers and diplomats; senators and newspapermen came to obtain first-hand information. Hundreds of Russians revolted and demanded a chance to choose between returning to Russia, or being set free before the Red armies arrived.

Eventually, the prisoners were taken from Dachau. Some were handed over to authorities from their own countries; some were sent to hospitals for treatment; some, especially the celebrities of pre-war days, were freed on the spot.

Mr. Gun's book does not whitewash the American Army. He tells of the red tape that kept men in prison for days after the liberation. He tells of looting by the prisoners themselves, of the preference given to American prisoners; of the inexperience of the American officers. "There was nothing but orders, counter-orders, requisitions, lists, documents, plans, ordinances, regulations, counter-regulations, orders of the day, of the week, of the month, statistics, inventories, recaps of all kinds"

"IT WAS HARD for us to conceive," Mr. Gun writes, "that the wonderful American war machine which could fill the skies above us with thousands of bombers day after day, night after night, was unable to move a few thousand prisoners quickly from Dachau into civilized country."

One of the cutest stories in the book tells of the prisoner's introdction to American food and to a G.I. cafeteria. Mr. Gun calls it a fountain of food. In three days he writes, "I felt a kind of seasickness coming on. All I could do was down a cup of tea and the next day I started to feel cramps. At the camp, we had all become medical experts and I diagnosed my trouble as acute indigestion." From there the reader follows the author through the maze of a G.I. sick call.

After the war Nerin E. Gun came to the United States and writes that he became one of those wonderful Americans.

Pacifica Speculation Over A McMannis Replacement

By DENIS WADE

Pacifica City Councilman Don McMannis will resign at tonight's council meeting, leaving his four fellow councilmen with an empty chair and 30 days to fill it.

McMannis was elected to the council for the first time only last April after his appointment to fill the unexpired term of the late Harold Feyge in November, 1964.

He will move to Auburn, to become electrical engineer for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's Drum Division. The job represents a substantial promotion for McMannis, who has been the firm's district engineer in the North County. He has been with PG&E since 1946.

PG&E officials pointed out that the transfer was a recent development, and that McMannis could not have anticipated it when he ran for the council this spring.

While McMannis reported to his new job Monday, speculation grew over who might take his place.

The council members can be expected to keep their personal preferences for a successor a secret, at least until after they have met to discuss the situation. And McMannis said he did not feel it proper to comment on who might take his place.

McMannis himself is the only person ever to be appointed to the council, so councilmen have no established procedure to guide them in choosing a new member.

To further complicate the situation, the four remaining council members split 2-2 on their most recent major appointment, that of Lloyd Sitts to the planning commission last month. That dissent could conceivably carry over to the selection of a new councilman.

In the event the council does not appoint a replacement in the 30-day period alloted by state law, an election would be necessary.

Pacifica is fortunate in one respect: it has a large group of citizens who take an active and continual interest in the government and affairs of the city.

A successor to McMannis could come from the city planning commission, as he himself did; or councilmen might consider the six candidates who ran for the council and lost in April.

The problem (if there is one) appears not so much to be finding qualified candidates as selecting from among them.

While Pacifica searches for a new councilman, McMannis will be searching for a home, probably in Auburn. His family will remain in Pacifica in the meantime.

The new job will cover four counties, he said, and for the time being he has no plans to become involved in politics in his new area.

If and when he does, however, it will be Auburn's gain. His move, as a PG&E spokesman pointed out, is Pacifica's loss.

A 'Notice' Form For Contractors

Lorene Beasley

SECTION 7018, prescribing a "notice" from which gives pertinent provisions of California's lien laws, has been added to the Contractor's License Law.

Every contractor licensed under B & P Code, Division 3, Chapter 9, prior to receiving from the owner of the property or his agent any payment for work for which a contractor's license is required, MUST give a copy of this "Notice" to the payor.

The "notice" form provides that under the mechanic's lien law, any contractor, subcontractor, laborer, supplier or other person who helps to improve your property but is not paid for his work or supplies, has the right to enforce a claim against your property.

This means that, after a court hearing, your property could be sold to satisfy the indebtedness. This can happen even if you have paid your own contractor in full, if the subcontractor, laborer, or supplier remains unpaid.

THE MANNER for serving the "Notice" is not prescribed by law, but starting July 1, everyone licensed by the Contractor's State License Board is required to give a copy of this "notice" to the payor prior to receiving from the owner of the property or his agent any payment for work for which a contractor's license is required.

What is a mechanic's lien? It is a lien against real property given by statute under certain conditions to craftsmen for labor, skill or material which has been used for improvement of any property. It takes prior rights over all other liens not recorded BEFORE commencement of work by which the lien was acquired.

If bills are not paid for labor, materials on the job and to the lender and architect, the ones to whom the bills are due may attach the property and, if necessary, foreclose to satisfy claims.

If the sale does not satisfy a valid lien, a deficiency judgement may be entered against other real property owned in the same state by the owner. This property can be sold to satisfy a deficiency judgement.

HOW CAN you protect yourself? A owner may protect himself by a bond which calls for the payment of both liens and performance on the part of a contractor.

You can obtain such a bond from a surety company. The cost is about one percent of the amount of the total contract, although the bond is issued for only fifty percent of the total contract. A bond on a private $20,000 job would be written for $20,000 at a cost of approximately $200.

It guarntees the owner that if the building is not completed in accordance with the contract, regardles of illness, death or future financial condition of the contractor, the insurance company will protect his property from liens.

Beautification . . . and the Beast

FIRST of an estimated 4,500 street trees was planted last week on Daly City's Westlake Avenue, with the blessings of (from left) City Councilman Edward Dennis, City Engineer Arthur Reschke, Councilman Bernard Lycett, Parks Commissioner Ann Eason and Superintendent of Parks August Conci. Looking on in smiling anticipation is "Boy," who appreciates the city's beautification efforts at least as much as his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ogneff, of 92 Castlemeont Avenue. (Post Photo)

Beautification Program Launched at Daly City; 79 Bottlebrush Planted

Daly City's urban beautification program began last week with the planting of 79 "bottlebrush" trees along Westlake Avenue.

City Councilman Edward Dennis turned the first shovelful of dirt, as city workmen distributed and cut the cans of the trees.

Officially named "callestemon lancelota," the trees were selected for their bright colors and excellent wind and drought resistance, according to Arthur Reschke, City Engineer.

Before the city is finished, there may be as many as 4,500 new trees, said Superintendent of Parks August Conci.

Funds for the purchase of the trees will be provided through a federal beautification grant, with most of the city's share provided in the form of labor to plant them.

Maintenance will be done by the city park division, at no cost to the property owners along the streets.

The Westlake Avenue trees set into the ground, in holes dug in the sidewalk. In some other areas planters will be used.

Other streets which are scheduled to receive trees soon include San Pedro Road, where planters will be used.

Current plans call for the planting of approximately 300 trees along Junipero Serra Boulevard from Knowles to Eastmoor Avenues.

Market Street is also due to receive trees, some 120 of them, and 216 more will go in along Hillside Boulevard.

The beautification program, not confined by any means to trees also includes development of city parks, recreation and public areas, reservoirs and pumping stations and suburban hillsides.

School Trustees Retain Chairman

Leo L. Eserini will remain president of the South San Francisco Unified School District board for another term, while Leo Padreddii will continue to be clerk.

The trustees met Saturday to elect the new board officers for the forthcoming year.

George S. Barulich was chosen vice president, to succeed Mrs. Lorraine Cooper. Hale Porter was elected county representative.

In their only other item of business at the special meeting, the board discussed the fiscal year 1966-67 budget, which is still in its tentative form.

Publication and hearing on the budget must be held before the budget is adopted.

Mother and Daughter Are Terrorized By Escapees

Two escaped Agnew State Hospital inmates terrorized a young expectant mother and her 4-year-old daughter for a half hour before they were captured without incident by Pacifica police officers

Police said a resident of the Fairmont District, Mrs. Jackie Brittner, 243 El Dorado Street, called them at 8:15 p.m. to say Ronald W. Slater, 24, and William James Kirchen, 21, possibly escaped mental patients, were in her home.

Mrs. Brittner, who recognized Kirchen as a former Fairmont area resident, used the need to wash clothes as a ruse to get to a phone.

She She told police the pair had entered the house and tied up her daughter with neckties around her throat and arms. The mother and girl apparently were otherwise unharmed.

Officer Peter Mannarone answered the call from the housewife and as he drove up to the Brittner home Mrs. Brittner fled the house and ran to the officer.

Mannarone went to the door and knocked, with Kirchen answering. He was arrested. In the meantime, more Pacifica policmen arrived, having been alerted by Mannarone.

Kirchen greeted Officer Mannarone at the door wearing only pants, vest and necktie. Slater had gone out for a pack of cigarettes and was apprehended by officers upon his return. The police had removed their vehicles from the area to make Slater think there was nothing amiss.

Mrs. Brittner said Kirchen had been drinking and talked incoherently of the Judy Williamson slaying. Bones of the University of California co-ed were found last spring in the Santa Cruz Mountains.

She also revealed that Kirchen explained how he had been arrested in San Francisco for beating another man and later being transferred to the San Mateo county jail. However, Mrs. Brittner said, he had been sent to Agnews after bing involved in weekend smuggling into the jail of LSD. He was at Agnews for treatment of a nervous breakdown, according to reports.

Kirchen is one of two men who were convicted of brutally beating a San Bruno man in a Burlingame park last December.

Kirchen reportedly had a .22-caliber pistol which belonged to the Brittners in his possession when he surrendered himself to Mannarone.

The two were taken to San Mateo County General Hospital then returned to Agnew.

Mail Truck Vulnerable

Neither rain, nor snow, nor sleet may stop the letter carrier but his modern-day motorized counterpart is more vulnerable to weather.

Last night the windshield wipers were stolen from all 14 three-wheeled delivery trucks assigned to the San Bruno post office at 751 Camino Plaza.

San Bruno postmen are keeping their fingers crossed the sun will shine for the next couple of days — at least until the wipers can be replaced.

Library Displays Paintings

During the month of July, patrons of the Daly City Public Library may see a collection of paintings by a local artist, Eunice M. Mohrdick.

Mrs. Mohrdick is a self-taught painter with no formal art training. She began sketching three years ago upon receiving a gift of pastel European chalks. She started to paint with oils after reading about forty books on the subject, she declared.

No Traffic Control Of Army Convoy

A military truck convoy of the 91st Training Division at the San Francisco Presidio rolled south through Daly City Saturday morning with at least one surprised officer aboard.

Lt. Col. John T. Ward, the division's provost marshal, had notified Daly City police that the convoy would move through the city between 6:30 and 7:30 a.m., and added a request.

"As in the past," Ward said, "we would appreciate assistance at the stop signal at Alemany Boulevard," at its intersection with Junipero Serra.

The traffic signal continued its stop and go cycle, as the trucks rumbled by without stopping—on the newly completed freeway below.

Tidal Action Field Trip Set for Pacifica Beach

An early morning field trip to a Pacifica beach to study the tidal pools and beach life will highlight the summer lecture series which the College of San Mateo's Community Education Department will present in Pacific this month.

Tickets are now on sale at the Recreation Department office at Pacifica City Hall. The entire series will cost $3 with tickets for any single lecture $1.50.

The three lectures will take place on Thursday nights starting at 8 p.m. in the Community Room of the Pacifica Library on Palmetto and Hilton in Sharp Park.

The remaining schedule is: July 14, "The Origin and Work of Tides, Weather and the Land"; and July 21, "How Environment has Shaped Life Forms."

The field trip is scheduled for July 17, at 6 a.m. on the Linda Mar beach. The early starting hour is dictated by low tide time, and exploration of the beach and tidal pools will engage the first two hours of the trip with an additional hour for discussion.

Adults Urged To Tell Car Safety

In the wake of four pedestrian-vehicle accidents involving small children, San Bruno police have appealed to parents to vigorously preach traffic safety to their youngsters.

Police Sgt. Fred Gillen said "school has been out slightly more than one week for summer vacation and so far we have investigated four accidents involving children who have run into the path of oncoming cars."

"Parents should try to implant traffic safety in their children's mind," Gillen said, adding, "Motorists also should also be aware that this is the time of year when we have more youngsters playing outside because of school vacations."

The main rule for both motorists and pedestrians— large and small—is to look both ways before crossing a street and to stop in an exposed position before continuing across a street, Gillen said.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

Good morning good cooks and gentle readers, last week's column ended on a strange note didn't it? Re, the second note of the scale. For any good cooks who are non-readers, let me explain: last week's column was cut off in the middle of the method of preparing frosting for cookies. In fact it cut a word, leaving just "Re."

The question is, what was the word? Relax? Repeat? Reject? Reduce? Remove? That's it, remove.

Now in order to make it clear to one and all, I'll start the recipe from the beginning. This is the chocolate frosting for Snappy Trutle cookies.

2 squares chocolate or one-third cup semi-sweet chocolate bits
¼ cup milk
1 Tbsp. butter
1 cup confectioners sugar (sifted)

Combine the chocolate or chocolate bits with milk and butter in top of double boiler. Heat over boiling water until chocolate melts; blend until smooth. Remove from heat; add the sifted confectioners sugar. Beat until thin and glossy. If too thin, add additional confectioners sugar until of desired consistency.

IF YOUR DAUGHTER is a novice cook, you might find that this next recipe for filled cookies would be more in line with her experience.

JAM FILLED COOKIES

½ cup shortening
one-third cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
One and two-thirds cup flour

Cream shortening, add sugar and cream again. Add egg and vanilla and mix well. Sift salt and flour together and blend into the creamed mixture. Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Shape into a round, flat cookie with a depression in the center. Build up the sides of the cookie so the depression will hold the jam. (Sort of like a small volcano.)

Into the crater of the volcano place a teaspoon of jelly or jam. I usually use two kinds of jam, making some with berry jam and some with peach or apricot.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes, or until the edges are nicely browned.

WE CAN'T live on cookies alone, though I know quite a few children who are willing to try, so I tested an interesting ground meat and bean recipe and found it good enough to pass on to you good cooks.

This dish is interesting in that it uses pork and beans instead of the usual kidney beans and the results of combining the seasonings, meat, vegetables and pork and beans is delicious.

BAR-B-Q BEANS

1 lb. ground meat
½ cup green pepper, minced
½ cup onion, minced
½ cup celery, minced
1 can tomato sauce, 8 oz.
½ cup water
1 clove garlic, minced
2 Tbsp. wine vinegar
1 teas. dry mustard
1 teas. thyme
1 Tbsp. brown sugar
1 teas. salt
pepper
1 can pork and beans, 2½ can

Brown ground meat, add onion, green pepper and celery. Cook until the vegetables are tender. Add the tomato sauce, water, vinegar, garlic, mustard, thyme, brown sugar, and salt and pepper. Simmer five minutes. Add beans. Pour mixture into a 1½-quart casserole and bake uncovered in 350-degree oven for forty-five minutes.

ON SECOND THOUGHT these won't fill up the cookie jar too well. They are so good they will disappear like smoke and the 2½ dozen won't go far. So here's a second cookie that will help to fill the gap.

This recipe for filled cookies is great for young bakers. The making is simple, the ingredients handy and the results delicious. Need I say more?

FILLED COOKIES

½ cup shortening
1-3 cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
1 2-3 cups flour

Cream shortening, add sugar and cream again. Add egg and vanilla and mix. Sift salt and flour together and blend into the creamed mixture. Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheet. Shape into a flat cookie with a depression in center. (Sort of like a small volcano.)

Into the crater of the volcano place a teaspoon of jelly or jam. I usually use two kinds of jam, making some berry jam and some with apricot or peach jam.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until the edges are nicely browned.

Hospital Guild Elects Officers

Mrs. Frank Kelechava was installed as president of Mary's Help Hospital Guild at a recent breakfast meeting in the Daly City hospital. Other new officers include:

Mrs. Fred Mortara, vice president; Mrs. Alexander Petrilli, treasurer; Mrs. Philip Glebow, recording secretary; and Mrs. John Swendsen, corresponding secretary. Board directors are Mesdames George Torassa, Frank Trumbower, and Alfred Finch.

Mrs. Dario Baciocco is chairman of the hospital's gift shop.

A 'Midsummer's Discotheque'

The young adult group of the new Brotherhood Way Jewish Community center has planned its summer program.

They invite young adults between the ages of 18 and 25 to a "Midsummer's Discotheque," at the center at 8:30 p.m. July 16.

S.S.F. Cub Play Judged Outstanding

"The Legend of Akela" which was presented by Cub Pack 276, South San Francisco, at the recent San Mateo County Council Scout-O-Rama was judged as one of the most outstanding skits presented by a Pack.

Cubs recording their voices for the first time for the complete audio portion of the show were: Ronnie Besser, narrator; Aaron Nakano, cubmaster; Mike Brower, Chief Akela; Eric Henderson, arrow of light; Nickie Kosta, young Akela; Corey Rickrode, young brave; and Tim Egiman played the tom-toms.

All the boys took part in the performance and helped with the costumes. Dens 1 and 2 made moccasins; Den 2 made necklaces; and Dens 2, 6 and 7 made some of the basic shirts and trousers.

Mrs. Joyce Becker, Counseling Den Mother, appointed a committee to supervise preparations during her absence following surgery.

Mrs. Barbara Schwartz was in charge of the skit, written by Mrs. Becker; Mrs. Lydia Bottoms was in charge of the tape recording and Mrs. Leatrice Nakano was in charge of the costumes and props.

John Eggiman was construction chairman.

Israeli Troupe To Entertain At Brotherhood

A troupe of young Israeli entertainers will perform at Brotherhood Way Jewish Community center, 655 Brotherhood Way, at 7 p.m. July 19.

The team will present Israeli songs, folk dances, and performances on native Israeli musical instruments.

Community singing and lively commentary round out the program of the artists.

The group is on a nationwide tour under the sponsorship of the Youth and Education Department of the Jewish National Fund.

Geared to family groups and persons of all ages, the program is offered free to members of Brotherhood Way Center and campers of Camp Achavah. The public is welcome for $1 donation.

S.S.F. Teen Attends Red Cross Session

Cecilia Carrasco of South San Francisco was one of 30 San Mateo teen-agers invited to attend the recent orientation session for Red Cross Youth summer volunteers.

Held at Burlingame, the session was designed to outline to the students their volunteer duties, such as regional office clerical work, packing chests of supplies for youngsters in other countries, driving the Red Cross station wagons, assisting with the Red Cross presentation at the San Mateo County Fiesta, and working with young children and the hospitalized.

Coastside teen-agers interested in doing such summer volunteer work may call Pacifica 355-4194.

Cherry Chicken Summer Salad

Pitted fresh sweet Bing or Lambert cherries frame this bountiful chicken salad. For a new taste in salad dressing, serve with a piquant combination of mayonnaise, sour cream and horseradish.

You'll find deep scarlet fresh sweet cherries from the orchards of the Pacific Northwest in the market from the middle of June through the month of July. Abounding in flavor and nutrition, fresh sweet cherries are a real treat for out-of-hand eating. This juicy flavorful fruit will stay extra fresh and plump when stored in plastic bags in the refrigerator.

For a bright new approach to summertime meals, serve Cherry Chicken Salad to your family and guests.

Cherry Chicken Salad

2 cups fresh sweet cherries
2 cups cubed cooked chicken
½ cup diced celery
½ cup pineapple tidbits
¼ cup sliced almonds
Salad greens
Piquant Dressing

Pit and halve cherries. Mix chicken, celery, pineapple and almonds. Add half the cherries and toss gently with enough Piquant Dressing to coat lightly. Place in salad bowl lined with greens. Garnish top of salad with remaining fresh sweet cherries. Serve additional Piquant Dressing on the side. Makes 6 servings.

Piquant Dressing: Combine 1 cup mayonnaise, ½ cup sour cream, ¼ teaspoon horseradish and ½ teaspoon salt. Chill well to blend flavors. Makes 1½ cups dressing.

Try Fresh Plum And Chiffon Pie

Little Jack Horner sat in a corner, eating Fresh Plum Chiffon Pie. He stuck in his thumb; pulled out a plum and said, "What a good pie have I!" Pardon the poetic license, but we couldn't resist; fresh plums are in the market again and this Plum Chiffon Pie is not only good, it's WOW!

While this seasonal fruit is with us, try a Deep Dish Plum Pie or the quick and easy Scalloped Fresh Plums recipe below. Fresh plums are also good in salads and fruit cups, so plan to put them on the shopping list often in the next few months.

Early June through August brings us the beautiful abundance of fresh California plums—Santa Rosa, El Dorado, and Laroda to list the leaders of the 58 different named varieties which ripen to such perfection in orchards of the Golden State.

California is the fresh plum producer of the country, growing some 92 per cent of all plums for the fresh market. Most of the leading varieties are the so-called Japanese types, crimson or golden in color. Many of them were developed by Luther Burbank after 1889 and one of the mid-season plums bears his name. These Japanese-type plums come to market early and are characterized by being of de luxe size and heart-shape as well as of gay color. (Incidentally, there are no blue Japanese plums.)

At one time the terms "plum" and "prune" were used interchangeably, but the industry makes this distinction: A plum is a variety grown primarily for uses other than drying—mainly for fresh consumption but also, to a limited extent, for preserving, jams, jellies. Prunes aren't as juicy as plums and normally are dried without removing the pit, although some kinds are marketed fresh.

Plums of good quality are plump, of fresh appearance, full colored for the variety and soft enough to yield to gentle pressure. They are ideal for eating out of hand since they need not be peeled, but their tart sweetness makes it possible to use them in a wide variety of recipes.

Plums contribute useful amounts of vitamins A and C, as well as other vitamins and minerals. They are low in sodium, have an alkaline reaction in the body and a 2-inch plum supplies only 30 calories.

CALIFORNIA FRESH PLUM CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1-3 cup cold water
3 eggs, separated
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk
¼ teaspoon ground mace
1½ cups sliced fresh plums
¼ cup sugar
9-inch baked pie crust
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract

Soften gelatine in cold water. Combine egg yolks and ½ cup of the sugar in top part of double boiler. Stir in salt and milk. Cook over hot water (not boiling), stirring constantly, until mixture coats a metal spoon. Remove from heat. Add softened gelatine, vanilla and mace. Chill until mixture is as thick as fresh egg whites. Fold in sliced plums. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks in a which gradually beremaining ¼ cup sugar. Fold into gelatine mixture. Turn into a cold baked pie crust. Chill several hours before serving. Dollop edge with whipped cream sweetened with confectioners' sugar. Garnish center of pie with a few fresh plum slices. YIELD: 6 servings.

Make Raisin Nut Muffins for Lunch

When the weekend approaches, it's time to think of fixing a relaxed breakfast or brunch. As a special treat for family or friends, make something different to serve with the usual bacon and eggs. Raisin-Nut Muffins will star at any brunch. You make them from a base of packaged graham cracker crumbs, orange rind, raisins and pecans. The recipe easily can be doubled and baked ahead of time. Serve piping hot with sweet butter. Here's how:

Raisin-Nut Muffins

1 cup Sunshine Graham Cracker Crumbs
¾ cup milk
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons shortening, melted and cooled
½ cup seedless raisins
½ cup chopped pecans
½ cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons double acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Preheat oven to 425°F. Soak packaged graham cracker crumbs in milk for 10 minutes. Add egg and orange rind and beat well; stir in melted shortening, raisins and pecans. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; add to mixture and stir until flour is moistened but not smooth. Do not beat. Pour into 10 medium-sized muffin tins, oiled on bottoms only. Bake for 15 minutes, or until golden brown. Remove from pans at once. Serve hot or cool. Yield: 10 muffins.

Fill Veal Rolls With Egg, Bacon

Light accents for warm weather menus are provided by delicately flavored meats like veal.

Cutlets made from the round (leg) of veal can be pounded and rolled to hold a filling, explains a noted meat expert. She suggests chopped hard-cooked egg, mushrooms and uncooked bacon, also chopped. This would provide a savory-flavored fat which is needed since veal has almost no fat of its own.

To develop flavor, slow baking or simmering with moisture contributed by canned tomatoes is necessary in this recipe. Tomato liquid thickened with flour provides well-flavored gravy for the entree.

Veal Rolls De Luxe

2 veal round steaks, cut ½-inch thick
1 slice bacon, uncooked
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
1 can (2 ounces) mushroom pieces if desired
2 tablespoons lard or bacon drippings
Salt and pepper
1½ cups canned tomatoes
Flour for gravy

Cut Bacon into small squares and combine with chopped egg, onion and 2 tablespoons mushrooms. Cut veal into 6 pieces approximately 3x4½ inches each. Remove bone. Pound veal pieces and spread with bacon and egg mixture. Roll and Fasten with a wooden pick. Brown rolls in lard or drippings. Season. Add tomatoes and remaining mushrooms. Cover and cook in a slow open (325 degrees F.), or simmer on top of the range, 45 minutes to 1 hour or until tender. Remove rolls, thicken tomato liquid for gravy. 3 to 4 servings.

Carnival Time Brings Cookies

Have you ever wandered around a carnival, looking at the sights, munching peanuts? Its' readily understandable how these cookies were inspired.

The flavors of lard and brown sugar give an especially tempting cooky, points out a home economist. Like frosting on the cake are the Spanish peanuts which give a delightful crunchiness to the cookies.

CARNIVAL COOKIES

1 cup lard
1½ cups brown sugar
3 cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups Spanish peanuts
Sugar

Cream lard and brown sugar. Sift together flour, soda and salt. Add eggs, vanilla and sifted ingredients to creamed mixture. Stir in peanuts. Shape into balls about the size of a walnut. Place about 2 inches apart on an ungreased cooky sheet. Flatten with a water glass wrapped in a damp towel. Sprinkle with granulated sugar. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 5½ dozen.

Turn Berries Into Tasty Jar of Jam

You can quickly turn a pint of berries into a luscious jam.

Honeydew with Lime Wedges
Scrambled Eggs with Ham
Toasted Muffins
Strawberry Jam
Beverage

STRAWBERRY JAR

2 cups ripe small strawberries
1¾ cups sugar

Remove caps from berries; rinse in cold water and drain. In a medium saucepan with a potato masher, mash the berries. Stir in the sugar. Cook and stir constantly until sugar dissolves; bring to a boil. Boil gently, stirring occasionally, for 10 minutes or until reduced to almost 1½cups. Skim. Cool. Turn into an attractive jar that can be brought to the table; cover and store in refrigerator. Makes about 1½ cups and has delightful pure strawberry flavor.

School Thefts Total $10,117

Thefts during the past eight years has accounted for a total loss of $10,117.34 worth of educational equipment among Jefferson Elementary School District's 20 schools.

A three-page list comprising 93 items ranging from radios to bookcases, and from an electric hot plate to ear phones, was aired at the district trustees.

Roger Barthuli, assistant superintendent for business, replying to questions by board members, said the losses were compiled from inventory sheets and periodic surveys. Reports made to the police and insurance agencies also had been used, but any list of recovered items could not be called complete for the years covered.

A further list of two pages itemized 103 pieces of property "presently unaccounted for." It was accompanied by the request "that this list be checked against inventory—should you find any of your items."

Jeff Elementary Will Protest

Now it's the turn of the Jefferson Elementary School District trustees, often a target for protests, to rise up and make a protest of their own to the tune of $11,689.10.

They will tell the County Board of Supervisors tomorrow that they object to the inclusion of JESD in the "Ninety-second Street and Vicinity Assessment District."

Thomas F. Noonan, trustee chairman, at the meeting Tuesday night in Daly City said, "Our district will gain no measurable value by improvements to the adjacent properties and streets, nor was the amount of our assessment included in the 1966-67 budget."

Discussion was enlivened by S. H. Cantwell Jr., deputy county engineer, and Philip Assaf, of the project's firm of attorneys, who stated the case of the project that got under way late in 1962.

Cantwell said the improvements "will benefit the school district the same as any other property owner in the increase in land values."

Assaf added that "there will be an advantage in easier flow of traffic and safety for children using the sidewalks."

It appeared that originally the school district's estimated share for "street improvements, rights of way, curb, gutter, sidewalks, etc.," was set at $16,637.16. However, the final low bid on the project was $242,929.94, or some $120,637.60 under the county engineer's estimate, and so the school figure was reduced.

A spectator in the audience questioned why the bid was so much lower than the early estimate. Asaff hazarded, "I guess the bidders were hungry."

Roger Barthuli, assistant school superintendent for business, then asked Donald R. Falk, prepresenting the school's architectural firm of Angus McSweeney, Inc., for a "curbstone opinion on what the work facing the school district could be done for."

Falk considered this and offhandedly said about $8,000 for the sidewalk, curb, gutter and half the street. Bartholdi commented that apparently the work could be done for considerably less "if we went outside and purchased it."

Thus the JESD trustees readied their protest, to be presented to supervisors at 3:30 p.m., July 14.

The date itself is a symbol of protest, for that matter, being historic French Bastile Day.

Major Award To Post-Times

The Post-Times Classified Advertising has claimed its second major promotion award within two months.

At the Detroit convention of ANCAM (Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers) The Post-Times entries for Classified Promotion were judged best in the field for all daily newspapers under 50,000 circulation.

The awards were made by Editor and Publisher, a national trade magazine. The Post-Times was the only daily newspaper from the western states to receive an award.

This marks the third straight year that The Post-Times classified has won an ANCAM award for best promotion.

The Times promotion material is prepared by Classified Advertising Manager Margaret Buschini and her staff. Utilizing ads within the pages of The Times and The Post, the promotion material is deigned to encourage the increasing use of classified advertising by householders and businesses.

'Hot' Debate Over Supervisor Selection Method

In a wild verbal donneybrook in which councilmen not only took on members of their own boards but challenged their compatriots from other cities, councilmen from seven north county communities failed last week to agree on whether supervisors should be elected from their own districts or by a county-wide vote.

So hot did the Millbrae meeting become and so lengthy did the discussion extend that the invited speaker, Jack Schoop, planning director of the Bay Conservation Development Commission, midway during the discussion, pulled down his maps, asked to be excused and promised to come back and address the organization next September.

Everyone present agreed it was a meeting unequalled in the last five years' existence of the group.

The actual vote on the change to elect supervisors by districts came up to an official vote three times.

The first time city representatives deadlocked three to three with one city abstaining.

The second vote was in favor of asking supervisors to put a referendum measure on the fall ballot that the county charter be changed to have voters elected by district. This was lost in discussion, however.

The mayors and councilmen finally agreed to table the whole question until individual councils have a chance to come up with specific recommendations.

Councilman Bernard Lycett of Daly City, a prime mover in the proposal to change the county charter, touched off the fireworks by noting the recent Supreme Court decision of "one man for one vote."

"Under the system we have here, today—this is diluted," he claimed.

Because of the cost of a man running in a county-wide election (he maintained the late Joseph Verducci spent $33,000 in his race for the county board) "you perpetuate a man in office. This is cancerous. Can it be dug out?"

Councilman Michael De Bernardi of Daly City asserted while many a candidate might represent his district, "a $50,000 tag will tie a good man up in knots."

Councilman Bernard Esser of Millbrae countered that any man who has the ability can raise the funds and questioned if any "renumeration" is worth the job. He asserted that "if you want a good man for the office, you'll get him." While the idea is "probably idealistic, there is no reason to change it."

"All we are asking for is the best man for the job," Councilwoman Josephine Waugh of Millbrae appealed.

Mayor Ed George of Burlingame asserted that under the county-wide vote "some carpetbaggers" moved "from one city to the next" to seek election.

"Then you become obligated to a group. Then it becomes a pressure group," he maintained.

"What do the people of San Mateo County want?" asked Councilman Nick Gust of Pacifica. "Why can't we give them what they want?"

In the June primary election, Councilman Frank Pacelli of Daly City, asserted that supervisorial candidate Wesley Pomeroy received most of his votes from the southern end of the county.

"The people of this area almost didn't have a choice."

Mayor Frank J. Bertucelli of South San Francisco asserted that the vote should be by districts—"if only to remove it from party politics. If you're a friend of the governor, or had him down—well! I do not want to be conned by anyone."

At this stage of the dispute chairman R. David Martin, a Burlingame ex-mayor, noted the scheduled "feature speaker has left."

When Ahern demanded a vote that the organization take a stand, Mayor James S. O'Connor of Millbrae moved the group table the question. At this time O'Connor's vote was defeated five to two.

Lycett moved the question be taken to the supervisors to be placed on the ballot, and O'Connor in turn, moved it be taken back to individual cities for consideration.

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

THIS COLUMN is devoted to women as a general rule, but since this is summer and things are changed about a bit, and, since not all the special people in our locale are not members of the fairer sex, lets devote our attention to a man today.

LUTHER J. SPRAKER is a Pacifica gentleman, with a diverse range of interests. By day he works as a warehouseman for an automotive concern in San Francisco, but evenings, on the weekends and during lunch hours, when he can wander through the halls of the San Francisco Museum of Art, he is an artist.

THERE are many people in the world who can dabble with oils or charcoals and manage to please their own tastes and the eyes of purchasers. But the number of artists who can please themselves, art judges and the public and yet retain a sense of excitement over the prospect of teaching a youngster to see the world and translate his impressions into some sort of tangible creative expression is minimal!

Luther Spraker is such a man. He delights in seeing a child think about the earth around him and so he specializes in teaching boys and girls from 7 to 11 years of age creative thinking through the use of art.

"I am more interested in having a child think out a problem, than to try and give him pure art lessons. I have developed a combination of fun and work in the classes and I teach children in this way because parents have come to me and asked me to," Spraker explained.

The Pacifica Artists' Guild sponsors the Saturday morning classes that Spraker conducts in the community room of the library in the Sharp Park area and children can have the benefit of his fresh and lively approach to creativity for a fee of only 75 cents.

"I never place a restriction on the child about what they can do, if what they want to attempt falls within the classwork. One young lady, interested in Ringo, sketched, carved in soap, made a statue, painted and block printed representations of her idol.

"Younger children, as a rule, work the fastest. They will often do four or five works to one effort by an older student," Spraker said.

Watching the children find out that they can think for themselves gives this artist-teacher a great deal of pleasure.

"I can give them the materials and the instructions as to the use of an artist's tools, but they have to do the thinking and the seeing," Spraker explained.

"Many children can tell you that a tree has branches but they never look to see how the branches grow on the tree; to get them to sketch a certain tree with five branches. To really see the students think of it as a tree, makes them aware that it is not just another tree, but a special tree," gives me lots of satisfaction. "I enjoy watching them discover things, to think about them and examine the problem and finally to try to re-create what they see," Spraker said.

ART as an avocation grew from an interest in the works of others. No one else in Spraker's family shares his interest in painting. He took his first lesson from the San Francisco Museum of Art and then began taking private lessons from Carlos Andreason, various other San Francisco artists and he had training and critiques under Alexander Nepote.

The current class being tutored by Spraker is only his second attempt at teaching but already there are enough names on the waiting list to fill another series of lessons and recently the Fifty Plus Club has requested that he begin instruction in oils for the senior citizens.

"I started out with a limit of 15 for this session, now I have 19. I insist that the children come because they want art lessons not because their parents think it is a good idea. As a result, the children enthusiastically tell their friends about it and soon new parents are calling me, Spraker said.

In an effort to allow the children's talent to develop in ways that will allow him to continue his creative efforts with only a minimum number of special items Spraker employs all types of materials in his classes.

Usually the class is held in the community room of the library but on one occasion everyone went to the beach instead.

"I took the kids to the beach to do sandcasting. Eighteen kids, 60 pounds of plaster and 18 sandcasts. I am trying to show the children that their homes are full of things that can be used in art work," Spraker explained.

"I bring in the basic rules of art as a sidelight rather than as the main theme of the lessons. Children will remember a remark made in an offhand way and will apply it to other projects without my having to drill them in the do's and don'ts," Spraker continued.

Obviously, class content varies and Spraker explains that besides sandcasting the students sometimes make mosaics with dried beans, rice, dried peas, all sorts of pasta and simple white glue. Some Saturdays are devotedvoted to sketching, being sure that every one really sees what he is going to draw first, others to doing sculpture with wire and papier-mache.

SPRAKER reports that he uses almost a limitless list of things for the children to arrange or develop into an expression of their individually maturing creativity. Poster colors, block printing, potato carving and collage, soap sculpture and other media all find their way into the format of these classes.

If you would like to see one of Spraker's classes in action he will be delighted to welcome you any Saturday morning after 11 a.m.

"The art classes begin at 10 a.m.," Spraker explains, "but I have found that the kids do better if there aren't any distractions for the first hour or so."

Persons who feel that their children might be interested in studying Creative Art under the guidance of this talented teacher may request more information by calling him in the evening after 6 o'clock at 355-6735.

Spindrift's Players To Pick Titles

Titles and directors of the one-act plays will be chosen this week by The Spindrift Playhouse for October production.

Three programs are planned for the new season. They will run for three weekends in October and January and May of next year.

At the general meeting Friday at the Pacifica Library community room in Sharp Park, the Playhouse approved revision of the constitution under which the group was operating during its first year. "Membership is open to all interested in furthering the theater arts," one portion reads.

Another article allows for exemption from income tax on any money contributions, as arranged with the Internal Revenue Service.

One of the studio productions planned between regular public showing was presented by Stuart Brickley, who directs a portion of a play concerning Dr. Sigmund Freud's success with his first patient in psychoanalysis. Barbara Aubuchon played the patient and Don Gentleman Dr. Freud. A critical analysis by the group followed the presentation. Robert McGouldrick, president, presided.

He announced continued classes in stage makeup Tuesdays at 8 p.m. at the library, Palemetto and Hilton. The classes are free of charge, he announced, and anyone is welcome.

Four S.S.F. Cub Scouts 'Graduated'

Cub Scout Pack 79 of South San Francisco recently held a garduation ceremony for four of their Cubs.

The boys who were awarded their arrow of light and graduation certificates were: Craig Fassler, David Norris, Ed Seekamp and Mike Swinfard.

Boy Scout Troop 79, represented by Scoutmaster Paul Bray and Len Barker, welcomed the new scouts to the troop and complimented the boys' parents and their Webelo Leader, Mr. Walter Ryzanych, for a job well done.

The boys presented Ryzanych with a Scout knife in appreciation for the time he spent with them and the interest he showed.

Other Cubs receiving awards at this meeting were: Paul Dykes, Cliff Martin, Kevin Rodondi, Robert Rodondi, Dennis Sturdyvant, Allan Rosborough, John Ryzanych, Mark Wasserman and Jim Blaise.

After a tug-of-war in which some of the parents joined in, Mike Swinfard and Craig Fassler entertained with several numbers on the trumpet and trombone. Refreshments were served by the newly graduated Cubs and for a closing ceremony the lights were dimmed and Mike and Craig played taps with an echo effect.

From Country Store To Successful Restaurants

Nick Gust must be one of the busiest businessmen in Pacifica. Besides tending to his councilman duties, Nick operates two very popular Rockaway Beach restaurants —Nick's and The Turtle. Both of these coastside show places are situated a stone's throw from the shores of the Pacific, affording a view of nautical splendor. Many years ago, Charles and Anastasia Gust, Nick's father and mother, founded this restaurant business by parleying a country store, which included household needs and food service. As business improved during the years, many additions were made. Then on the day of their retirement, the business was turned over to Nick, who also had a right hand helpmate. Namely, his lovely wife, Lorraine. After much remodeling, the Gusts soon added a 17-unit motel to the scene—making it one of the most outstanding restaurants, cocktail lounges and banquet sites in the Bay Area. A few years ago, Nick purchased a restaurant located across the street from Nick's, which also underwent a complete face lifting—inside and out. It was named The Turtle. Temporarily closed due to new construction plans, The Turtle patrons look forward to its reopening date. All restaurant and entertainment activities are now centered under one roof—Nick's. Open seven days a week featuring an outstanding breakfast, luncheon and dinner menu. Entertainment by Don Kelly at the organbar, and the Del Carlo Combo, featuring recording vocalist Mary Ann Hay. Dancing Friday and Saturday evenings.

Stained glass windows and British art objects give the luxurious show place the air of a swank English pub. Dancing Friday and Saturday nights . . . The Cote D'Azur gourmet haven in Atherton will be undergoing two weeks of extensive remodeling and redecorating. It will reopen on July 18 with a bright new look, especially for the ladies . . . Phil Rauscher On the Job

A popular meeting spot for many of the Airport's airline personnel seems to be the International Inn restaurant, where General Manager Phil Rauscher is always on the job to see that a visit here is one to remember—food wise, beverage-wise and service-wise.

Georgia Hoover, "Miss Elsie's Fountain," told your Bright Lighter that this Fourth Avenue "food and beverage oasis" set a new high record in sandwiches, last week.

"Most of our customers are in some kind of a hurry," said Georgia, "and we have the service to satisfy."

Scotty Campbell's Wine List Makes You Think

One of the most interesting wine items on the "restaurant and Scotch and soda beat" is the wine list attached to each bottle placed on dining tables at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City. Even if you didn't have a bottle of wine in mind, the suggestion makes you think you should.

For a special evening of dancing and dining, make up a party and visit the beautiful Scheherazade Room in the Burlingame Hyatt House. It's a masterpiece of design and decor with a menu to match. Bob Wellman's orchestra is real great entertainment and a pleasure to dance to.

Overheard on a Greyhound Bus by Lloyd Shippey, the San Carlos "tourist": "She's really in the IN crowd. Her husband never takes her out."

Though New Tivoli has a wide reputation for its bountiful Italian fare, dinners here always save room for the delicious petit fours served weekends. They're tasty yellow cakes coated with apricot glaze and a rich frosting, baked fresh in the Tivoli's kitchen.

Radio Minister Guest in Pulpit

The Rev. Robert DeVilbiss, staff announcer and associate director of research and development of radio station KEAR FM of San Francisco, will be the pulpit guest of the Westside Baptist Church of San Bruno, 2322 Crestmoor Drive, at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Rev. De Villbiss joined the staff of Family Radio Inc. last February.

Prior to this, he was in the pastorate in a Baptist church in Greensburg, Pa. He is a native of Louisiana, and a graduate of Bob Jones University.

His sermon topic will be "Fashion or Passion." Special music will be provided by the Ladies Trio, Mrs. Betty Swanson, Mrs. Lucy Johnson, and Miss Donna Wallin. Primary church for pre-school and primary age children will be conducted during the last half of the adult worship hour by student workers, Mr. and Mrs. Del Johnson.

At the 7 p.m. Sunday family fellowship gospel hour, Del Johnson will deliver the message. Johnson and his wife are workers in the church, and he recently graduated from Simpson Bible College, and plans to enroll in the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary of Mill Valley this fall. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, hope to serve as foreign missionaries, upon completion of their academic pursuits. She is a student at San Francisco State College, working for her elementary teacher's credential.

Pastor Donnelly will be engaged during the week of July 16-23 directing the high school camp of the Northern California Baptist Conference at Hume Lake. Alton Swedberg, superintendent of Westside Baptist Sunday school, again will be choir director, and counsellor at camp. Youth from Westside Baptist attending include: Diane Swedberg, Twylla Anderson, Bob Swedberg, and George Bradley.

Wednesday at the 7:45 p.m. Bible study and prayer hour of the church, four members of the fellowship who attended the recent Lay Institute of Evangelism in Palo Alto, will outline their experience there. These members are James McLean, James Pollock, and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Swedberg.

Pacifica 'Minority' Talk Set

Dr. Seymour Cain, well known to Pacificans as a scholar in religion and philosophy, will speak on the subject, "The Negro Minority in White America" at 8 p.m., Friday.

The meeting, sponsored jointly by the Pacificans for Human Concern, the Pacifica Unitarian Fellowship, and the Skyline Christian Church, will be held in the Community Room of the Sharp Park Library.

Dr. Cain will share with the group facts discovered in his research on minorities in America. The survey which he has recently completed will be included in a 20-volume set of essays on American history written by experts in various fields.

Dr. Cain has said that the insights which he will present are controversial and "uncomfortable, even for liberals." He hopes to combat many fictions about white and Negro attitudes both before and after the Civil War and to consider the viewpoint of Negroes looking at themselves. Discussion will follow the presentation.

Final Report On Church By Rev. Thomas

This week the Rev. Vernon E. Thomas, pastor of the Broadmoor Church of the Nazarene, with some 60 pastors on the Northern California District Church of the Nazarene will give his report at the sixty-first annual District Assembly of the Northern California District Church.

The assembly will be held this year, July 13-14 at the Concord Church of the Nazarene, Concord. The Nazarene Missionary Society Convention will convene July 11-12.

This report will be Rev. Thomas' eighth report for the Broadmoor Church.

On July 17, following the assembly, Reverend Thomas will conclude his ministry at the Broadmoor Church. Prior to coming to Broadmoor he had served five years as pastor in Palo Alto and five years as pastor in Woodland.

Following his pastorate here he will not immediately move to another pastorate, but will be following a counseling study program and do supply preaching.

His successor will be the Rev. Ronald Grabke, a graduate of the Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Mo.

Single Adults Invite Guests To Gathering

The Single Adults of Temple Judea invite guests to attend their regular meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Fellowship Hall of Temple Judea, 625 Brotherhood Way.

Card games and refreshments will follow the meeting.

Nathan Rubin, Oakland, recording artist, will play on violin the "Kol Nidre" at Temple Judea services September 23.

Nathan Rubin has appeared widely as recitalist, as soloist with a number of orchestras, including the San Francisco Symphony, and as a recording artist for the Epic, Contemporary, and Fantasy companies.

At present he is an instructor at Mills College, director of the Mills Performing Group, and concertmaster of the Oakland Symphony.

Youth Crusade

The Youth Crusade in Pacifica is well under way.

For the past week the young people have been making personal door-to-door visitations, holding street meetings and giving personal testimonies wherever young people were gathered.

D.C. Student Wins Award In Business

Miss Tania J. Moore, 21, of 18 Upland Avenue, Daly City, has won the National Business Education Association's award of merit. She was a graduate student at San Francisco State College majoring in accounting and marketing.

She received the award from Acting President Stanley Paulson and Dr. Joseph DeBrum, chairman of the Department of Business Education at SF State College. The Award is based on high scholarship, ratings by her major professors and the predictions of high professional success.

Miss Moore will be teaching business subjects at Polytechnic High School in San Francisco in the fall.

She was active during her campus career including service in the Orientation program, the Campus Kickoff proceedings and Home coming. She served as a tutor at the Booker T. Washintgon Community Agency and was advisor to B'nai Brith Girls.

Miss Moore was graduated from Abraham Lincoln High School in 1961 and received her B.A. at SF State in 1965 and her General Secondary Credential this year.

S.S.F. Boys Club Active This Summer

The South San Francisco Boys' Club has a full summer activity schedule lined up for every boy that wishes to participate, according to Director Tom Sauer.

In the craft shop summer activities include: woodwork, mosaics, paper craft, leather work, plastics, copper tooling and various other crafts and in order not to miss out on any new project, it is suggested that the boys check with the shop each day.

For only 10 cents the boys on Mondays and Fridays can ride into San Francisco on the club's new bus for their swimming lessons. Those interested may sign up early; this trip leaves at 10:30 a.m. and returns at 1 p.m.

In the Boys' Club library a new supply of books has recently been received and Club members are urged to come in and browse during their free time.

There are still three more camp sessions for Boys' Club members to attend. The camp is located in Mendocino County between Willets and Ft. Bragg along the Noyo River.

The next session is from July 20 to August 3 and then from August 4 to August 17 and August 17 to August 31, for more information contact the Boys' Club on Orange Avenue.

Board Okays Jeff Salary Adjustments

An adjustment of the Jefferson Union High School District salary schedule will give classified employes an average 5 per cent pay increase.

Trustees approved a plan last night that will increase each salary classification by $5, in addition to a one range increase of ranges 1 to 11, two ranges for ranges 12 through 39 and three ranges for ranges 40 and over.

A report prepared by Richard B. Coltrell, assistant district superintendent, noted that increases of from 4 to 7.1 per cent will result, with the average increase 5 per cent.

The cost has been set at $38,980.

Trustees held over for further study a proposed fringe benefit plan that could offer classified employes district-paid life insurance policies of $4,000 each and a full-paid medical plan for the employe and all dependents.

Bruno Home Shoot Scene

Burglars broke into the San Bruno home of Henry Amable, 190 Tulare Drive, last week and held an hour-long rifle shoot using lamps, dishes and windows for targets.

Amable told police he returned home early in the morning and found his home in a shambles, with broken glass, torn furniture and "BB" shot holes in the walls.

A "BB gun" was used to shoot up the home.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

What is malocclusion?

Malocclusion is irregularity of tooth position and poor fitting together of the teeth on closing the jaws. Such irregularity not only may interfere with chewing and with speech but also may lead to disease of the gums and other supporting structures of the teeth (periodontal disease). Malocclusion may also produce deformities of the face. Ask your Dentist about Malocclusion and its treatment if needed.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.
